

Daily People On the Move

Professional services

Aaron Miller has joined Javers Group as district manager of the Owings Mills and Rockville offices. He will be responsible for business expansion and development as well as driving consistent sales growth for the company. Miller brings more than 15 years of human resources, benefits and payroll experience to his new role. Prior to joining Javers Group, he worked for ADP as a major account district manager where he worked with clients from 50-1,000 employees selling payroll, HRIS systems, time and attendance solutions as well as 401k plans.

